Arbor Day is a day set aside to emphasize the importance of planting trees and shrubs. The State of South Dakota has suffered several years of severe drought which has seriously affected the growth of trees in this state. Special emphasis should be placed upon this day this year with special observance of the day in schools and clubs, with the hope the citizens of this state will realize the necessity for continued planting of trees.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Harlan J. Bushfield, Governor of the State of South Dakota, designate April 15, 1940, as ARBOR DAY, hereby especially setting it apart as the day for the annual planting of trees in the State of South Dakota, and urge that appropriate exercises be held in all schools, thus affording an opportunity for the boys and girls to participate in the preservation of our natural resources.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of South Dakota to be hereto affixed.

DONE AT THE CAPITOL, in the City of Pierre, this 2nd day of March, 1940.
